101 Miracles to Brighten Even the Darkest Days

Chicken Soup for the Soul shares amazing, real-life miracle stories

COS COB, Conn. – When Sheila Quarles took a last-minute vacation to St. Thomas, she never imagined she would find her birth family. But that’s exactly what happened when Sheila, who had suspected she was adopted, was randomly seated right next to her biological sister in a restaurant. As the two strangers chatted, the truth came out, and that very day Sheila ended up traveling to St. Croix with her newfound sister to meet the rest of the family.

This is one of the 101 true stories in Chicken Soup for the Soul: Miracles and More (Chicken Soup for the Soul, LLC; Amy Newmark; February 6, 2018, 978-1-611599756, $14.95). This new collection from the iconic publisher proves that miracles happen every day to people from all walks of life. From miraculous connections like Sheila’s, to answered prayers, divine intervention, inexplicable healing, angel encounters, and messages from heaven, these stories from ordinary people who have had extraordinary experiences will deepen your faith and give you hope—that good things do happen to good people.

C. Solomon, for example, is still in awe over what happened to her family on 9/11. A high school student on an Army base in Germany, she felt an overwhelming need to call her grandfather in Virginia to make sure he was okay after the planes struck the World Trade Center. She reached him on his cell phone, and to get a better signal he stepped out of the security line he was standing in as he waited to enter the Pentagon. Just minutes later, when he would have reached his office inside, the airplane hit the building.

Tiffany Flynn responded to a mysterious inner voice as well, one that warned her not to seek shelter from a rainstorm under a car dealer’s awning. Instead, she drove home through torrential rain and hail, wondering why she felt compelled to do so. It was only when she got home that she learned the car dealer’s building, had been destroyed by a tornado just minutes after she would have arrived there.

And then there’s Susan Traugh’s daughter, who was on her way to buy drugs after months of sobriety because a friend of hers had overdosed. When she just missed having a major car accident, she was shocked to find that the other driver was her very own Narcotics Anonymous sponsor, who she had been avoiding. That incredible coincidence was a turning point for her, one that put her back on the right path.

It just goes to show that miracles are all around us. We only need to open our eyes and accept them.
