Miracles really do happen

Chicken Soup for the Soul shares amazing, real-life miracle stories

COS COB, Conn. – After more than 16 hours trapped in a cave, Logan Eliassen had almost given up hope. Rescuers had tried to free him for hours. “Then I realized something,” Logan writes. “My strength was entirely gone, but God’s was not.” Alone in the cave as the rescue workers changed shifts, Logan prayed. That’s when he felt himself being moved and freed from the stone. “When the rescuers returned to the passage,” Logan writes, “they were astonished to see me sitting on the edge of the crevice.” Logan, like the other contributors to Chicken Soup for the Soul: Miracles Happen (Chicken Soup for the Soul Publishing, LLC, Feb. 4, 2014, 978-1611599329, $14.95), had experienced an amazing turn of events.

From miraculous connections and answered prayers, to divine intervention and inexplicable healing, to angels and messages from heaven, the 101 stories in Chicken Soup for the Soul: Miracles Happen prove that miracles happen, every day, to people from all walks of life.

Stories like Gloria Jean Hansen’s show us how miraculous connections happen all around us. When she was playing in a bluegrass jam session one night, a stranger wandered in and starting playing her guitar with them. The stranger, Violet, was in town for a conference where she was speaking about her life as a former drug addict. Violet soon recognized one of the musicians in Gloria’s group—an elderly blind lady. It was Violet’s mother, who she hadn’t seen in years due to her drug addiction. “We were witnesses to a miraculous reunion,” Gloria writes. “To this day, I think angels had something to do with it.”

Other contributors share amazing messages from heaven they’ve received. Like Kacey Morabito-Grean, who lost her father shortly after getting engaged. When a coworker was selling raffle tickets, Kacey asked her dad to give her a big sign – pay for her wedding. Her raffle number turned out to be the same as her father’s old house number, so Kacey says she was certain she would win the grand prize of $10,000. And she did. “I jumped up... ‘Dad wants me to get married. Dad wants me to get married!’” Kacey writes. “I was laughing and crying and calling every relative and friend to tell them the good news.”

Miracles happen every day – you just have to look around you to see them and be open to accepting them. These powerful stories will give you hope, deepen your faith, and brighten even the darkest day.

ABOUT CHICKEN SOUP FOR THE SOUL

Chicken Soup for the Soul publishes the famous Chicken Soup for the Soul book series. In 2007, USA Today named Chicken Soup for the Soul one of the five most memorable books in the last quarter-century.
